Corner Animal Week

RUSTENBURG - From 4 - 10 October is internationally known as "Animal Week". This week is given to create awareness of all animals, domesticated and wild, their part and the place they deserve on this planet called earth.

Animals are bred for eating, they are hunted for trophies, animals are used for companionship, for scientific experiments, in fact if you think about it animals provide the human species with any number of uses and without animals the planet would be an empty place indeed and life as we know it would be very different.

So why is it, when animals are so important to mankind, that they are treated with cruelty, they are neglected (starvation and lack of medical attention). Animals are regarded by many as simply a means to a financial end and this includes irresponsible people who practice inbreeding with their own pets. If an animal does not look right, or is not performing as expected (horses, dogs and livestock) they are discarded in one way or the other. Horses and livestock are, either mercifully shot, or left to find what food they can, whatever the season and dogs and cats are abandoned, either to starve to death or get run over, if they are lucky they may be taken to an animal shelter.

Make a difference this animal week and live awareness of all animals, those you own, the wildlife we have from the birds in your garden to the squirrels in the trees. Show your children by your actions and words, to appreciate all creatures big and small, to value them. Teach them that animals have rights:

Freedom from thirst, hunger and malnutrition; Freedom from discomfort; Freedom from pain, injury and disease; Freedom to express normal behaviour; Freedom from fear and stress; Freedom to be free. (Continued on page 18)
